

Corporate Fact Sheet

Pathwork[®] Diagnostics, Inc., based in Sunnyvale, California, develops and commercializes high-value molecular diagnostics that advance cancer care. The company delivers FDA-cleared microarray-based diagnostic test kits for oncology to clinical laboratories and also provides its diagnostic tests through its CLIA-certified service laboratory. The company's proprietary analytical system uses a custom Pathchip[®] microarray, which runs on the proven Affymetrix GeneChip[®] System.

The company's first test – the Pathwork[®] Tissue of Origin Test – aids in diagnosing the origin of uncertain tumors and is the first test of its kind to receive FDA clearance. Knowing the primary tumor site with greater certainty should in many cases enable more effective treatment, especially with the availability of new, targeted cancer therapies. Approximately 200,000 newly diagnosed cancer patients annually in the U.S. may have a tumor for which the site of origin is uncertain after an initial diagnostic workup.

Future tests from Pathwork Diagnostics will be operationally similar to the Pathwork Tissue of Origin Test, utilizing different analytics that are applied to a Pathchip microarray.
